

MILTEX® HI-LIGHT

XCISION® ROBA EXTRACTION FORCEPS

Tapered outside contoured beak

Allows deeper access subgingivally into the tooth socket

Anatomically shaped beaks and concave inner contour

Perfectly matches tooth shape

Serrated Notched Beaks

Better grip on tooth surface; assists atraumatic removal of tooth

Wear resistant disc

Helps eliminate wear in the joint of the instrument

DEFXCR17

High quality German stainless steel

Provides long instrument life with minimal wear

Smooth handle & circular openings

Easier to clean than serrated handles; reduces weight of instrument

The new RoBa extracting forceps complements our existing Xcision® forceps product line. Xcision® RoBa extracting forceps have been designed to allow subgingival access to the root while removing a tooth. The beaks are anatomically shaped, tapered, serrated and notched to allow the forceps to penetrate deeper into the tooth socket and to maximize the tooth-to-forceps contact. The notched beaks provide an enhanced grip that assists atraumatic extractions and reduces the risk of fracturing the root structure or causing trauma to the surrounding hard and soft tissues.

RoBa extraction forceps have the same unique, lightweight, ergonomic handle and wear resistant disc found in Xcision® forceps. The wear resistant disc helps eliminate wear and tear of the instrument's joint. The handle of the RoBa extraction forceps has a smooth matte finish and circular openings that reduce the instrument's weight. This Xcision® RoBa extraction forceps line will feature 12 of our most popular patterns.
